

Message

From: grice2@fuse.net [grice2@fuse.net]
Sent: 3/27/2020 2:31:20 PM
To: Martin, Lawrence [Martin.Lawrence@epa.gov]; Bussard, David [Bussard.David@epa.gov]
CC: Rice, Glenn [rice.glenn@epa.gov]
Subject: Revised Text for Summary Memo and 1 more effort to revise text box 3-2
Attachments: undefined; Possible revised text v4.docx; Draft Summary of Additivity 3-27-2020.docx

David and Lawrence

Attached are draft materials for our discussion at 1 today.

The summary memo that David wrote has been revised. I think that this addresses the concerns that were listed as comments on the previous version, and made some changes to increase consistency with the white paper.

The parenthetical at the end of the memo "but for one on which there is disagreement" really bothered me. I stared at Text box 3-2 for a long time last night 😊

While the example is over a decade old, well-known and cited both here and by NAS, I removed the names of the pesticides as well as any reference that they might be pesticides. While I have not run this by any of my co-authors, maybe this would enable us to remove the parenthetical from the memo? (Text Box 4-1 was not changed from our previous discussions)

Glenn